$45,000 Budget Adopted At Free Church Meeting

News Capsules

● Standard International Corp. last week elected Warren S. Cooper, treasurer and Sol Sackel, marketing-public relations director as vice presidents. Cooper, now a resident of Andover, came to Standard a year ago after 11 years with a Springfield accounting firm. Sackel, formerly director of advertising for Bolta Co., was president of Sackel-Jackson (advertising) Co., Boston, shortly before joining Standard.

● Copies of the Town Manager's budget are available at the Town Clerk's office in Town Hall and at Memorial Hall Library for those who wish to study its detail.

● Joseph C. O'Hara has been denied approval by the Zoning Board of Appeals for his plan to convert property at 18 Lincoln St. into a two-family house. Discounting O'Hara's report that the house was once used for two families, the board said that the immediate area is now developed as a single-residence area and favored preserving this status.

● The Zoning Board has approved a petition from Mrs. Lucienne Saegaert, a New York businesswoman, for permission to add three rooms to her summer home off Webster St. on an unaccepted way. She plans to retire to Andover with her sister, now an interpreter for the United Nations.

● Andover Native, Bob Shann has been signed by the Philadelphia Eagle Football Club. The Boston College athlete was the Eagles' 20th draft choice.

● Police continue investigation of a Jan. 3 break at the home

The congregation of Free Christian Church adopted a budget of $45,361 at its 118th annual meeting Jan. 20. The budget figure includes building expenses for interior improvements and for missions.

Presented were plans for an "all-committee" night which calls for all committees other than the Board of Deacons to schedule their meetings for the first Tuesday of each month at 7:30 p.m. Robert McAnern outlined the plan and reported that the purpose is to aid communication and promote understanding on questions of general church concern.

Frederick Fitzgerald reported to the congregation on progress in ecumenical relations. He referred to meetings held with St. Patrick's Church in Lawrence at which he said laymen attending discussed numerous topics in a candid manner.

Committee reports were heard from Dr. Norman Rockwood, Deacons; Margaret Craig, Social Action Committee; Mavis Rockwood, Missions Committee; Robert Kent, building improvement program and Rolling Ridge conference; and Harriet Newman, Christian Education Committee.

The following officers and committee members were elected. Moderator, Walter S. Downs; Vice Moderator, Everett Gorrie; Clerk, Mrs. Robert McAnern; Treasurer, Robert P. Domingue; Assistant Treasurer, William MacKenzie; Auditor, Robert McAner; Trustees (three years), Arthur Awley, John Chapman and Reginald Mortimer.

Deacons (three years), Norman Merrill and Carl Fitzgerald; Deaconesses (three years), Mrs. Joseph Gill, Mrs. Alexander Black and Miss Nan Lindsay; Church School Supt. (three years), Mrs. Alvin Towne; Assistant Church School Supt. (three years), William Paterson; Christian Education Committee (three years), Mrs.

Announced candidates:

Moderator - Atty. Joel R. Labell, 7 Moraine St.; Rep. Arthur Williams, 149 Haverhill St.; William H. Wilson, 33 Marland St.

Board of Selectman - Michael E. Brennan, 12 Brook St.; Roger W. Collins, incumbent, 50 Maple Ave.; William Stewart, incumbent, 63 High Plain Rd.

Allen B. Copeland and Gerald M. Lewis, both of whom had intentions of running for moderator, have taken themselves out of the race.

Mrs. White Heads March

Mrs. Gordon White, Hidden Rd., is Andover Mothers' March chairman for the 1965 drive, it was announced today by James D. Wilson, Andover campaign director.

"How many of our children have to die, how many more must be crippled in body or retarded in mind, how many more millions of parents must undergo this tragic ordeal before we begin to look on birth defects as a national emergency?"

Mrs. White asked these searching questions today as she urged the citizens of Andover to contribute to the traditional Mothers' March on birth defects on Sunday, January 31, from 1:00-5:00 p.m.

"Women, and especially mothers, should be outraged by the fact that most Americans are apparently unaware or indifferent to the birth of an estimated 8,260 babies that will be born with serious birth defects this year in

Town Considers Afresh The Fate Of Town Hall

(A Townsman News Feature)

A mire of mis-information, suspicions and innuendos developed this week as officials and kibitzers moved to assess and dissect the proposal made by Danton Realty Trust that the town of Andover lease space in its $1 million Standard International Building.

Developers John Davidson and Phideas Dantos and Town Manager Richard Bowen added to the confusion by reworking their figures on space and cost estimates, bringing the gross per square foot offer to $2.30 by mid-week.

ROGER W. COLLINS

Collins Makes Election Bid

Roger W. Collins, 50 Maple Ave., a state parole agent for the Division of Youth Service, has announced that he is a candidate for re-election to the Board of Selectman for a three year term.

He is presently filling out the final year of the unexpired term of former Selectman B. Allen Rowland.

A native of Andover and educated in Andover Schools, Collins graduated from Hebron Academy, received his BA degree from Arizona State University and did graduate work at the University of Arizona.

During World War II, he served with the Army in the European theater.

Collins, a former teacher of government and history, is president of Andover Monument Co. He is a member of the National Council on Crime and Delinquency, past president of the Andover Male Choir, a former member of the

And the eight-member committee appointed by the Board of Selectmen to make a decision on the proposal by Feb. 8, tripped over semantics in attempting to narrow the confines of their two-week inquiry. They were charged with making a recommendation based on "economic feasibility."

This does not mean, said Davidson this week, that the committee is bound to decide whether the principal of leasing appeals to them, whether there might be legal complications for the municipality, whether the Legislature would push the necessary bill through in time for Danton's spring ground breaking schedule, whether the architecture of the new building is good for a town hall or whether, if the town is to lease, it should put the whole proposition out for bids.

All the committee is supposed to do, says Davidson, is decide if the lease plan offered is a practical solution to the town's need for improved quarters.

The committee, on the other hand, has drawn a broader base for itself. Meeting Tuesday, it responded (almost in toto) to Chairman Robert Neikirk's suggestion that if the group is to come up with a money answer it must consider four basic points and various alternatives:

1. Establish that there is a need, which Neikirk admits is not too difficult considering that for at least 20 years other boards and committees have ruled that Town Hall, as it is, has outgrown its usefulness.

2. Establish the scope of the space needs.

3. Consider the various means by which the space needs can be

Church Groups Tour Studios Of WGBH-TV

Twenty-six members of Ballardvale United Church went behind the scenes Monday for a pre-grand opening tour of WGBH's new Allston facilities, constructed to replace those lost in a fire some months ago.

Most of those making the trip to the studios of the educational radio and TV station were members of the church's youth groups.

They visited control rooms, the new room and the broadcasting studios, one highlight being a tour of the scenery construction department.

After a report on the history of the channel, the visitors sat in on the filming of the weekly program, "Folk Music USA." Performing was the Jug Band, musicians using a jug, washboard, stovepipe and comb for instruments, and a vocal trio.

The program can be viewed on Channel 2 both Wednesday and Saturday evenings.

Among young people making the tour were Brenda Jackson, Jill Perry, Barbara Young, Janice Stewart, Gwen Batchelder, Alan Mattheson, Colin Sherry, Arthur LoRonc, Judy Smeltzer, Eddie Smeltzer, Louise Hall, Patty Butler and Richard Meyers.

ROHRBACH SPEAKS ON HARDY PLANTS

Heinrich Rohrbach, local nurseryman, has filled two recent speaking engagements, speaking on horticultural subjects.

He recently addressed the New Hampshire Plants Assoc. on the subject of the search for hardy plants to survive in extreme climates.

Jan. 21 he addressed the Worcester County Horticultural Society, suggesting plantings to provide color in the garden throughout the growing year. Rohrbach is scheduled to make a TV appearance in April to discuss shade and flowering trees.

3,000 Teenagers Talk

Students Prefer To Use Memorial Hall Library

(A Townsman News Feature)

Given a choice between their own school libraries and Memorial Hall, Andover's teenagers show an overwhelming preference for the latter as a place to study and to browze and borrow.

This is among the conclusions drawn in a two-year report of the Andover Library Study Committee which includes statistics on library use taken from 3,000 questionnaires filled out during a ten-day period late last spring by students visiting three libraries - Memorial Hall, Andover High School and Andover Junior High.

The pupils, 94 per cent of them, said they preferred Memorial Hall and the big reason was the availability of a larger and more varied collection of books. Supporting reasons: the tempting array of records, magazines and films on hand. Results of the query were compiled as a public service by the Andover Institute of Business.

Figures show that Memorial Hall has an average of 1,300 users weekly in the main reading room for adults and young adults. More than half of them (55%) are students; nearly a quarter are housewives (23%); five per cent are teachers.

Despite their affection for the public library, students do use their own school libraries: 65 per cent of those queried said they had used the school library at least once in the month preceeding and 39 per cent said they had made use of the facility three or more times. About half the students reported they had borrowed one book during the 30 day period, while six per cent said they had borrowed six or more books at the school.

Within the same period, however, 85 per cent of the students used Memorial Hall at least once and 76 per cent of them borrowed books.

Teen users were asked what they liked best and least at all three libraries. Their answers were candid.

They like the broad collections and the longer hours at Memorial Hall, a few of them even stating that the library isn't open long enough to suit them. Nearly half the students mentioned the ease of finding things, the librarians' services and the quickness with which needed materials are made available.

Proximity is the thing they like best about the school libraries; they approve too the general atmosphere, the librarians' help, the school-related material in the stacks and the sale of paperbacks. They like least the size limitations on both the physical area and the book collection. And 56 per cent of them complained that the school libraries are not open enough hours. At the same time, only four of ten said they would use the school library if it was open at night and 72 per cent said they definitely would not use school facilities on Saturdays or during the summer.

Only 17 per cent of the student users found at Memorial Hall indicated they preferred the public library for social reasons. Bemused librarians believe there may be a semantic difference in interpretation of the words "social reasons," with adults and students assigning different definitions to "social." They observe that a good deal of companionable studying goes on in spite of the rules that there is to be no talking in the Main Reading Room where a sounding-board effect is created when 38 people (all the seats available) get together side-by-side and back-to-back at the reading tables.

STUDENTS LIKE PUBLIC LIBRARY

On the Library Study Committee are school administrators, secondary school librarians, Memorial Hall's head librarian and supervisor of children's services, and three members of the League of Women Voters. The committee began its investigation two years ago on the heels of a preliminary study done by the three League delegates for their organization.

Early findings stimulated some early action in improving things for student studiers.

At Andover Junior High Principal William Hart has scheduled library-use instruction for seventh graders and a language research program for ninth graders. A jump in the AJHS book budget (from $600 in 1961 to $2,500 in 1964) has meant 1,000 new books and a 100 per cent increase in circulation.

The book purchasing allocation at the high school has gone from $200 to $2,500, and Principal Philip Wormwood tells the committee that a professional library of books and educational periodicals is now available thanks to a gift from the Teachers' Association and a grant from the Trustees of Punchard Free School.

Also new at AHS: Subscriptions to 50 magazines and four newspapers to enrich the collection, along with 1,825 new books since 1961. Library orientation is given all high school sophomores and transfer students and library instruction is arranged to acquaint various class groups with specialized books relevant to a specific subject.

And for Memorial Hall, the study has reinforced the staff's position that additional space, both for books and borrowers, is necessary for the growing legion of public library fans - students and otherwise. Their proposals: a $340,000 addition, to be partially financed by an $85,000 federal grant in aid already made available for use in the coming year.

Dartmouth Prof. Commends Grew

A Dartmouth College junior from Andover has been cited by a professor of geology for outstanding academic achievement in two courses during the fall term.

Edward S. Grew, son of Mr. and Mrs. James H. Grew of Hidden Field, was commended by Professor A. H. McNair for his "work in paleontology . . . of a very high caliber. He consistently demonstrated exceptional competence in this subject." McNair also praised Grew's work in a stratigraphy course. Grew "demonstrated a scientific maturity on a complex subject, rarely seen in geology undergraduates."

In a letter from Thaddeus Seymour, Dean of the College, Grew was told that faculty citations are extremely rare, and are awarded only when the professor feels that the grade A does not reflect the caliber of the work. These citations become a part of the college's permanent records.

Grew is a 1962 graduate of Phillips Andover Academy.

One-Woman Act Will Portray Great Mothers

With the aid of a variety of costume and make-up changes, Muriel Wolfson will entertain the November Club at its regular meeting Feb. 1 at the Clubhouse on Locke St.

The professional entertainer will appear in her one-woman theater presentation of "Mothers of the Great."

The actress spent four years in research and preparation of the material used for her portrayals of the mothers of such immortals as Thomas A. Edison, Florence Nightingale, Sarah Bernhardt and Arthur Compton. Some achieved greatness because of their mothers, and others, in spite of them.

Tests Permit Comparisons

Students at Andover Junior High School are awaiting the results of a battery of tests given to help ninth and tenth grade students see where they stand among others in the same grade level across the country and in Andover.

Their skills in English usage, mathematics usage, social studies reading, natural sciences reading and word usage were measured and the scores come through in a standardized manager that permits ready comparison.

Students will be discussing the results with guidance counselors for individual interpretations and the results, plus a pamphlet of additional information, will be sent home to parents.

Parents who have questions about the testing may call Miss Katherine Sweeney, dean of girls, or Richard E. Neal, boys counselor, at the Junior High guidance office.

Adventure Film Abbot Program

A colorful, fast-moving film story of an expedition off the Asia Minor Coast will be presented at Abbot Academy at 7:30 p.m. Friday.

Stanton A. Waterman's lecture-film traces his adventures in locating a cargo ship which sank 100 feet into the ocean during the Late Bronze Age, 1,500 years before Christ was born.

His program, "3000 Years Under the Sea", is basically scientific and educational within the framework of adventure and travel.

It will be presented in Davis Hall and is open to the public.

Erickson Presides At Supts.' Meeting

The Merrimack Valley Superintendents Assoc. met Thursday at Rolling Green Motor Inn and 36 administrators discussed some of the prime educational issues of the day.

In summary, President Edward I. Erickson, Andover superintendent, said that the discussion covered the Willis report, school athletic policies, anti-poverty legislation, budget trends, the longer school day (already under discussion for Andover) and the longer school year (also being considered by Andover).

Next week, Feb. 4, Erickson hopes to attend a meeting of the Massachusetts Superintendents Assoc. where area officers will report on the opinions of schools administrators gleaned in such area sessions.

Last Call For 1964 Sales Slips

In order to qualify for 1964 CASH refunds, all 1964 sales slips must be turned in at the CO-OP no later than next Monday, February 1.

During February, two things are going on. All sales slips are checked for accuracy. Also, our auditors are going over all the store's accounts in order to determine our earnings and taxes for the past year.

The Andover CO-OP has always paid a 5% dividend on shares of stock. Far more important to our patrons are our substantial refunds in CASH on all purchases made during the previous year. Last year we paid out over $43,000 on 1963 purchases. We hope to exceed that amount this year.

But the CO-OP's unique brand of private enterprise doesn't end there. Every purchase made this day, this month, this year helps build up 1965 savings to be paid out next year. The consumer benefits are continuous.

Science Is Unraveling Birth Defect Mysteries

Medical science is researching, and has already found some ways to reverse fate for children born less than perfect, children whose defects would have once doomed them to half a life or less.

Today, says the Massachusetts Department of Public Health, birth defects are being studied carefully as a major medical problem. Indeed, the facts now indicate that if certain conditions are recognized early enough, it's possible to elimminate some defects entirely.

Perhaps one of the greatest breakthroughs in the field of mental retardation came in 1962 in a disease called phenylketonuria, PKU, as it is commonly called, is a metabolic defect. It will cause brain damage or retardation if it is not detected shortly after birth and if the infant isn't started on a special diet immediately. Yet, babies born with PKU look perfectly normal. They are cute, active and healthy appearing ... but not for long. PKU babies cannot assimilate an amino acid called phenylalanine, which is found in protein food. This means the most ordinary foods, meats, milk, eggs, bread, much that goes into baby's formula and food.

Massachusetts now requires by law, a routine blood test for PKU in every newborn. It's a simple test, involving a drop of blood from the baby's heel. Since 1962 the State has detected 28 cases, about three times the number most medical authorities here anticipated. These 28 babies are lucky. A lifetime of retardation is no longer their lot.

The clue to another birth defect can be observed immediately by the naked eye of the attending physician. It's the absence of a third blood vessel in the umbilical cord, recently recognized as a possible birth abnormality. This omission of nature often suggests a major defect in the heart, kidneys, gastrointestinal tract or the central nervous system. Hence, young medical students and all doctors have been alerted to study closely the infant with but two blood vessels connecting the umbilical cord. Specific tests and immediate checking and probing of the different systems of the child's body for malfunction must be considered as standard procedure by the doctor. Relatively minor corrective surgery will often rectify any abnormal condition noted.

Another recognizable indication to a birth defect is the "low ear." In this case there is nothing wrong with the hear mechanism itself, but only a location would the body. Frequently a kidney defect has been found, interestingly, the defective kidney is found on the same side as the abnormal ear. Again, if this defect is noticed early, a corrective operation on the kidney will insure its proper function.

The white forelock on a newborn, medically called Waardenburg's syndrone, is another birth abnormalities being discovered and researched daily. Important is the fact that many in the medical profession and lay people are just now beginning to understand and realize the tremendous need for more study in this area.

Top medical people are already working diligently at the enormous problem of birth defects in the hope of sparing all babies from living the gray life of mental retardation, chronic illness or handicap.

This new field of research is immensely important to the nation and the individual community as well, as its success will help minimize not only the child's disability, but also the terrific tax burden that's incurred by hospitalization and institutionalization, sometimes for a lifetime.

The white forelock on a newborn, medically called Waardenburg's syndrone, is another recognized sign requiring further medical study. If for example, a baby with a white forelock has eyes of different colors, the chance of deafness is a definite possibility. The Waardenburg syndrone child also has a prominent, wide-bridge nose and wide set eyes, often of different colors. Early detection here is particularly important, because the child may be considered mentally deficient, when he simply can't hear.

From the days of medicine shows and snake oil . . . if you remember them you are on the after side of 60 . . . the medical world has made great strides . . . people are living longer as a result of it. Those old medicine shows were something . . . usually a barker quack peddling some concoction in a bottle (unsealed) that consisted of liquor, anise, peppermint and a large portion of imagination . . . "good for gout, rheumatiz, the miseries a-n-d whatever ails you". Grandad gulped it by the quart . . . and somehow felt better. Such potions are outlawed today by the FDA.

Now most every drug store has at least one whole wall crammed with medicines produced by scientific laboratories which spend millions in research and investigation. Any of them are safe and really beneficial. All recommend seeing your physician if condition persists. They serve immensely in relieving suffering.

At the rate of progress we are experiencing today . . . it is calculated that pretty soon now there will be no such thing as loss of work from illness. Doctors will control any condition within hours . . . no colds . . . no headaches . . . no back ache . . . may the gods speed the day.

Meanwhile, for all your medical needs, see SHAWSHEEN PHARMACY, Shawsheen Square, Andover. Our pharmacists are prescription specialists and will fill your doctor's orders with professional accuracy. Trust SHAWSHEEN PHARMACY with all your drug requirements. Free prescription delivery.

The Accelerated Sewer Program is already little more to most people than a matter of recent history.

Except for the minor cleanups and plantings that must await spring, the $1.6 million project is completed and about 355 families are in a position to benefit from the 13 miles of sewers laid in the twelve months of construction. As development continues in the areas of expanded service, additional families will know the convenience of being part of a central sewer system.

This massive extension of Andover's sanitation facilities was wrapped up in whirlwind fashion, completed in just about six months less time than anticipated. In fact, the original scheduling called for concentrated construction of a type that some communities would have avoided—this much sewer work could have been dragged out over a seemingly interminable period.

The man behind the decision to move and move as fast as weather and the facts of construction life would permit was Water & Sewer Supt. Donald Bassett. To him, dealing with a big dose of dirt and detours seemed something akin to stomaching a big dose of acrid medicine – the faster it is all over with, the faster the patient forgets that he didn't like it.

It was a good decision, and those who couldn't see it from the middle of the dust haze that went with summer's drought, must be realizing it by now. Work that could have been strung out over two or three years is done, and 30 new home owners have already taken advantage of the chance to hook into a modern sewerage system.

Don Bassett didn't lay the sewers and he wasn't responsible for the good weather that kept things rolling, but he planned and believed in the project and he had a master hand in coordinating the work.

For months disgruntled motorists who wanted to complain about a detour, and housewives who were convinced there was no reason for construction to be such a dusty process, and grass fanciers who were irked by damage to their lawns found it easy to pick up the phone to berate Bassett for the inconvenience of it all.

One wonders if a comparable number of citizens will find it as easy to let Don Bassett know how much they respect his devotion to a job fraught with as many headaches as satisfactions?

He deserves some genuine appreciation.

It is a boon to downtown Andover, the news that Standard International Corp. will make its headquarters in a modern office building at the heart of Elm Square.

It is particularly impressive now when Standard, a public corporation just since November, is on the threshold of a listing with the New York Stock Exchange. It is the kind of time many a growing company would select to shake the smalltown out of its history, and seek a city address.

Standard is a diversified manufacturing company with an expanding list of subsidiaries. The fact that it chooses to run its spreading operation from a hometown base is good for Andover.

The additional fact that Standard and Danton Realty Trust (John Davidson and Phideas Dantos) could work out a real estate arrangement that will speed the construction of the town's first high rise office building in 70 years (the Musgrove Building dates to 1895) lends fresh impetus to the somewhat faltering belief that any kind of extensive urban renewal will be generated by private enterprise.

Their success with this venture will be a success for Andover.

In 1964 the longest peacetime period without a recession continued into its fourth consecutive year. A record 71 million Americans were at work -- 1.5 million more than in 1963. Average factory earnings reached a new high of $104.70 a week -- up nearly $4.00 a week over last year. The value of goods and services produced rose to a record $628.4 billion -- 5 percent greater than in 1963.

It has been a year in which the majority of Americans received the largest boost in purchasing power in their working lives. In the 18 postwar years, the annual average rise in per capita purchasing power has been 1.3 percent. In 1964, the increase was a full 5 percent -- larger than the rises of 1962 and 1963 combined.

Down the Years with The Townsman

75 Years Ago – January, 1890

A bold fisherman from Lawrence cast his lines in Foster's Pond last Sunday and was pulling in a good string of the finny tribe, when he was taken in by Officer Mears for Sabbath-breaking, and on Monday Judge Poor ordered him to pay fine and costs amounting to $10.15.

The appropriation for town expenses in 1857-8 were $2,500 for highways, $3,500 for schools and $8,000 for current expenses. Compared with the total expenditure last year $134,377.78, it can readily be seen what a change thirty years have wrought.

If 25 persons from Frye Village want to attend the Balmoral Concert in Lawrence Friday night, the special train will stop at the crossing near Mrs. Robb's.

The question of a Street Railway is being agitated again, and if reports are true, it begins to look as if immediate action is about to be taken by the company which was formed sometime ago.

Frank Holden and Fred Weld caught the handsomest string of fish seen for many a day lately - 31 fish, 29 of them pickerel, some of which weighted 2 1/2 lbs. Dr. Shattuck had them on exhibition.

50 Years Ago – January, 1915

The invitation of the Historical Society, to the citizens of Andover to bring to its new abode any objects of historic interest which they were willing to donate to the Society, has already met with so generous a response that it will probably take until the middle of February to catalog the articles already given.

The mid-winter reunion and dinner of the Chase-Chase family association was held at the American House in Boston Saturday with a very large attendance nearly 75 per cent of the members being present.

Under orders of the Andover Board of Health, as approved by the State Department of Health, all milk dealers are hereby notified that they are positively forbidden to leave any milk container at any house where there is a contagious disease.

Loren H. Roberts, 244 Main St., while operating his automobile in Waltham on Sunday evening ran into a young woman knocking her down and fracturing her skull. She was taken to the Waltham Hospital, but was so seriously injured she died. The accident was unavoidable.

Yesterday afternoon Mothers' Day was observed by the local exchange when the mothers of the operators were made welcome from 2:30 to 4:30 o'clock. Inspection of the workings of the new light system was made with much interest and the girls served a buffet lunch to their mothers in the rest room.

The possibility of a toboggan slide as part of Andover's future winter sports program was mentioned in a statement issued by the town Co-ordinated Recreation Committee this week. This is the first year there has been a town appropriation for winter recreational activities and the Board of Public Works has provided areas of skating.

Mrs. Emma Gould Carter, Punchard teacher, said in an article published recently that the majority of our school curricula, Punchard's included, are organized for the 25 percent of those boys and girls who will go on to institutions of higher learning rather than for the 75 percent who must immediately earn their living upon graduating from high school.

Dr. Malcom B. McTernen of Wolcott Ave. has been appointed district deputy grand master of the 11th Masonic district which includes six lodges in Lawrence, Methuen, North Andover and Andover.

Two water extensions and a sewer expansion totalling nearly $8,000 will probably be included in this year's annual town meeting warrant.

Various articles will appear in the town warrant to relative to the relocation and improvement of Rogers Brook to relieve the dangerous conditions it frequently causes after a heavy rain.

Plans for enlargement of Memorial Hall Library to give better service to the public will be presented to the town meeting in March in an article asking an appropriation of $162,500 for additions and interior alterations.

Voters of Andover in their double town meeting next March face a $4,000,000 budget, the largest in the history of the town. The exact figure will not be known until after the Finance Committee has gone over all the department budgets.

The Andover Taxpayers' Assoc. and the Andover Civic League are co-sponsoring an open meeting on the Town manager plan.

With St. Valentine's day just two weeks away, the stories for school age children naturally have a "heart" theme. Then on February 4th the theme shifts to Be My Valentine with three stories headed by "The Valentine Cat." Mrs. MacCausland also is using the valentine motif with the Ballardvale Littlest Listeners.

Method To Be Discussed

When the Great Books group meets at the library on Tuesday, February 2, the topic for discussion will be "method" as delineated by Descartes in his DISCOURSE ON METHOD. As usual the discussion group will assemble in the library's Red and Gray room at 7:30 p.m.

A copy of the 1965 Town Manager's ANNUAL BUDGET has been received at the library. This is available to all during hours the library is open. Just ask for it. Memorial Hall is open weekdays from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. and on Saturdays from 10 until 6.

Science Ahead

Annually at about this time in anticipation of projects in science and science fairs, the library puts on temporary reserve a selected list of books on science to aid the scientific constructor and exhibitor. Ballardvale branch is also displaying science books. The docustat machine at the library has proved helpful to those who wish to have a copy for home use of science project instructions found in the reserved books. In addition to the reserved books there is a wealth of background reading in connection with the varied interests of the "scientists" who ask us for such items as: animal intelligence and how to care for the rat after a maze is built for it; crystals and how to get them to be different colors; the effect of light on growing things; plant (or animal) reaction to a list of stimuli; graph material on the relation of smoking to lung cancer.

THIS? Fresh discussions of the future of Town Hall raised the question again this week – if Andover ever gets around to a new headquarters, what kind does it want. This Colonial structure was designed and presented in 1955 as the answer of a Town Office Building Committee to what was then considered a pressing need. It was to have been located on the Shaw property, now the municipal parking lot, which last year's Town Meeting agreed to as the site for a new police station, still unbuilt.

LEASING CHIEF TOPIC OF WEEK

b. by renovation at Town Hall
plus leasing
c. by renovation and expansion
d. by the construction of new quarters.

There was general agreement among members of the committee that two weeks does not give them time enough to thoroughly study the alternatives. At the same time, there was an unwillingness to act on the Danton proposal in a "vacuum."

There was sharp reaction from some to the idea of a picturesque Colonial New England town stripped of a Town Hall, an attitude that ignored the "temporary" aspect of the plan. Both the developers and Town Manager Richard Bowen have said that they would consider any lease arrangement a stop-gap measure, designed to give the town time to make a permanent move.

Speaking for Danton Realty, Davidson said Tuesday that his company would find it neither desirable, nor profitable, to have the town as a tenant permanently.

The Proposal

If the town were to take Danton up on its offer, it would mean granting the developers permission to build a six floor building instead of the three-story structure thus far planned. Present regulations restrict the construction of any high-rise building taller than three floors.

The latest estimates on cost set the gross square foot price at $2.30. Danton originally proposed $3.00 a sq. ft. and based its figures, according to Davidson, on Manager Bowen's statement that he would need 21,000 sq. ft. to cover municipal office needs, less the police department. (Bowen's 1965 budget calls for construction of a separate police station.)

Bowen later scaled down his "needs" figure, however, saying that he could live with 18,000 sq. ft. for the period that would be covered by any lease arrangement.

This fact, plus Danton's decision to stretch its financing over 25 years instead of the 10 to 15 years Davidson says is customary in commercial construction, is what has permitted a reduction in the cost figure.

Questions

Those who tend to be "suspicious" of the Danton offer, which sets a price for new, modern quarters that is well below the going rate for such space and throws in 2,000 sq. ft. or so of free basement storage, point out that the lease arrangement would be a means to an end for the developers: it would give them approval for a six story structure which the town might refuse otherwise. With the Town Hall people out in five to seven years, Danton would have several thousand square feet of space available for more profitable commercial tenants.

There have been ill-concealed innuendos that Danton needs the Town Hall business in order to get its Elm Square project off the ground.

Davidson denied both allegations this week. To the first he says, "We planned a three floor building and that is what we will build if the Town isn't interested." He adds that he and Dantos can always create additional area by broadening the base of the building, making the floors larger than the 7,000 sq. ft. planned. "We don't have to provide 70 parking spaces," he said.

To the second the developer commented: "We have sold approximately 40 per cent of the three-floor building and we have a delivery date (for Standard International Corp.) so there will be a building with or without the town."

Davidson claims that the three-floors he would build for the town would bring the community $15,000 in real estate taxes. He estimates the total tax package on a six-floor, air-conditioned, elevator building would run $25,000 to $30,000.

This, says the developer, what

OR THIS? For the downtown Urban Renewal plan introduced in 1963, Perry, Shaw, Hepburn & Dean designed this low, modern town hall which was to have sat adjacent to a police station part of the area to be occupied by the planned Standard International Building in Elm Square. The total project, including new fire station, land and site development was to have cost $1.5 million. Town Meeting defeated the renewal project which was tied to federal aid.

added to the some $11,000 in salaries and expenses it is taking to operate the present building would, in effect, deduct $25,000 from the total cost to the town - lifting the out-of-pocket price to about $26,000. This deduction would be cut if, as considered in preliminary discussions, the town government (largely for security reasons) chooses provide its own janitorial service.

Present Cost

Last year, 1964, the town spent exactly $11,454.60 in maintaining and operating the present Hall. It broke down this way:

Salaries and wages (including sick-leave, extra hands for special projects etc.) - $5,885.04.

Expenses: Fuel - $1,352.33; electricity, $1,923.87; water, $82.71; repairs, $454.47; equipment, $161.60; building and grounds maintenance, $1,466.98; rubbish removal, flag service etc., $27.50.

Old Story

In expressing the desire that the survey committee will take an impartial look at the whole idea of leasing, one Town Hall official said this week: "Let's just hope they don't scuttle this idea on the grounds that the old Town Hall can be reconstructed to do the job - unless they make some recommendations for getting on with it."

The in-the-street impression that all this fresh interest in a solution to the Town Hall problem will die a natural death is born of the frustration known by those who have observed - or sat on - previous committees to study the question.

As recently as 1963, preliminary sketches were drawn, as part of the now defunct Urban Renewal plan, which showed a new Town Hall in virtually the same position that the Standard Building is to stand. It, along with a police station and a fire station in the same low, modern architecture were to form a $1,500,000 complex in Elm Square (land, site development and relocation costs included). Town Meeting killed this proposal in rejecting federally aided Urban Renewal. Nothing was done about rescheduling the municipal office construction.

Prior to that, in 1955, Town Meeting considered a Colonial Hall proposed for the Shaw property which is now used for a municipal parking lot. A portion of this site was designated at the 1964 Town Meeting for a $75,000 reconstruction of the barn located there for a police station. Bids came in much over the allocated figure.

The course of the present deliberations was indirectly predicted by former Selectman Russell Doyle at the study committee's Tuesday session where he said that is the principal of leasing which will ultimately decide the committee, not the cost per square foot, no matter how low it goes.

GAUNT SQUARE

DOWNTOWN ANDOVER as it looks today. The future of this center is the subject of hot discussion as a special town committee wings into study of possible solutions to the inadequacy of the present Town Hall, at least in its present condition. Advanced as a possibility for the future: the destruction of the present Hall and construction of new, Colonial replacement at the familiar site. Developer John Davidson, Danton Realty Trust, uses something approximating the above layout to support his contention that the town would be smart to lease space in the proposed Standard International Building while it takes steps to preserve a Town Hall site in mid-town. The dotted lines atop the present Hall indicate, in front, a mall, and just behind that a new town building, laid out rectangularly and dead-ending Bartlett St. The dotted area off Park St., to the left, has been suggested as a parking lot site, large enough to spur revitalization of the entire area between Park St. and Elm Square. At the left, in the foreground, is the grassy plot where the Standard Building is to go up.

students, or children, may secure a copy of the catalog at Memorial Hall Library. It lists over 100 titles and gives the number for ready location of the desired title. A section that should be most helpful in program-planning lists the strips by kind of subject. Some headings are: Nature, historical, geographical (aspects of New England such as seacoasts, towns, rural New England, and so on) holiday stories, and stories for children.

New Books

Among the new books at Memorial Hall are many that can only be called spectaculars. And what is a spectacular? In the first place it is impressive and usually is large and copiously illustrated. Often it will be a special book for a specialized taste or it will remain an authoritative source of well-illustrated information which the library ought to make available. In short, it is apt to be a handsome, expensive book which is a joy to those who look at it. Spectaculars suggested for your perusal:

NIGERIAN IMAGES, Fagg; A MANUAL OF ENGINEERING DRAWING, French; WAYS WITH WATERCOLOR, Kautzky; LAROUSSE ENCYCLOPEDIA OF ANCIENT AND MEDIEVAL HISTORY; THE PENROSE ANNUAL; CALLIGRAPHY, Schwander; THE FOLKSINGER'S GUITAR GUIDE, Silverman; STEREO VIEWS, Darrah; AN ILLUSTRATED HISTORY OF FURNISHINGS FROM THE RENAISSANCE TO THE 20TH CENTURY, Praz.

New Fiction

THE DAY OF THE BUGLES, WW II and Jackie Conlon, Bear; HERZOG, Great joker, sufferer, cuckold, charmer, Bellow; THE DEATH OF ARTEMIO CRUZ, wealthy Mexican recalls, Fuentes; THE RIVER OF DIAMONDS, suspense, Jenkins; THE RISING OF THE LARK, the 1920's in Wales, Moray; THE NEW MOON WITH THE OLD, Smith; IF MORNING EVER COMES, bewildered young law student, Tyler.

Mr. Reilly and his staff are all able and pleasant. For something so important as proper fit, you want to be sure you are dealing with experts such as the LAMEY-WELLEHAN staff. Stride-Rite and Red Cross are an example of LAMEY-WELLEHAN'S insistence on selling the finest. Florsheim is another example. For YOUR family's foot health, get quality shoes that really fit because experts fit them, at LAMEY-WELLEHAN'S.

Hard To Convince?

If these last few weekends haven't convinced you, then you are a die-hard. Yes, if you aren't convinced now that your family needs a snow thrower, then you'll never be convinced. If you have been thinking of the back-breaking work of these last few storms, then you should visit the T. J. SCANLON Co., 594 Essex Street, corner of Broadway, Lawrence, and see the famous CROCKER BLIZZARD MASTER snow throwers. Most important, these are Massachusetts-built and when they are shipped to our area, they are assembled right here in Lawrence. That means you can get parts and service. Features galore! A 6 HP Briggs and Stratton winterized engine, forward and reverse speeds. It handles ONE TON of snow per minute. There's a year warranty on all parts. This is a machine that was engineered for New England weather and it is available only at the T. J. SCANLON Co. With all these features you'd think the machine was expensive, but amazingly, it's not. The SCANLON price is only $224.95. A big value! Don't wait for the next storm.

A Unique Gift . . .

Is the gift of music. No, you can't really give a gift of music, but you can give the opportunity to cultivate the inherent flair for music that all children have. And you can do this for your child or even your grandchildren by giving them lessons and an instrument from the METRO MUSIC COMPANY, Inc., 472 Common Street, Lawrence. The area's largest music center is best equipped to do more for every person studying with them. There are many individually soundproofed rooms to accommodate the many people and groups studying at 472 Common Street. METRO MUSIC is also the area headquarters for pianos and organs, with such well-known names as Fischer, Ivers and Pond, Pianola, Cable and Lowrey, all displayed in a pleasant, well-lighted showroom where your selection is made under the best possible conditions. Joseph Santangelo, the sales manager, is fully familiar with each of the brands and can answer any question fully and intelligently either in person or by calling 682-0232.

New Car?

Just bought a new car? And aren't you proud of that beautiful hunk of iron, and didn't you make a promise that THIS car is THE one that you are going to keep in tip-top Shape? Sure you did. But we all know that ambition fades long before interest. Why not make it easy on yourself? Protect the interior with clear, heavy-duty plastic seat covers from COLUMBIA AUTO SEAT COVERS, 165 South Broadway, Lawrence. At least your beautiful upholstery will still be beautiful when you go to trade for a newer model. And the added value of a clean interior will more than pay for the cost of the plastic seat covers. And you'll enjoy the beauty of your car longer with these see-through covers. Do visit COLUMBIA AUTO SEAT COVERS and get those covers before the original seats get all dirty. . . . Go over to 165 South Broadway and get that little matter taken care of.

Outstanding Film Second AFS Offering

Question 7, a German film on Christianity's fight for its life in East Germany, will be shown by Andover Chapter AFS as the second in its series of foreign films on Friday, Feb. 5 at 8 p.m. at Andover High School.

This story of a pastor and his congregation and particularly of the life of the pastor's teen age son in a Marxist dominated school is told in terms described as both "practical" and painfully universal. Financed by U. S. Lutherans, the film was shot in West Germany only five miles from the Iron Curtain. The boy is a gifted pianist who longs to enter a conservatory, but to gain admission he must deny his religious beliefs in replying to the crucial seventh question in a government questionnaire. The state, personified in a likable and persuasive young teacher, urges him to leave his father's "outworn ideas" and join the new society.

"Question 7" received the Grand prize from the Jury of the International Catholic Film Office; it has been lauded by the national press and by Billy Graham; and recognized as the Best Film of the Year by the National Board of Review of Motion Pictures.

Andover Chapter American Field Service sponsors the foreign film series to finance its international scholarship program. Luis Herrera from Paraguay, this year's student at Andover High School will speak briefly during the evening.

Tickets are available from Richard Marciano, Robert Klie and Mrs. Herbert Lake or at the door.
